Making Each Moment Matter.

April 29, 2020

Dear Community Partner & Friend,

During difficult times like these it's sometimes tough to know exactly what to say or do. If there is one thing we know to be true – staying silent is rarely the right answer. As your community partner, I simply wanted to lean in and lend our support to you and your congregation.

Cedar Valley Hospice continues to carry out our mission of caring for those who need end-of-life care, palliative care, grief services (for both children and adults) or case management with CASS (Cedar AIDS Support System). At Cedar Valley Hospice we not only provide expert care for our patients, clients and their families...we also provide free, unprecedented grief support to individuals coping with the death or the terminal illness of a loved one – regardless of their affiliation with Cedar Valley Hospice.

Everyone's grief journey is unique, and with COVID-19 the healing process may be even more complicated. While some caregivers and family members may be able to grieve without additional support, others may need grief counseling. Please visit our website at www.cvhospice.org or call 800.626.2360 to learn more about our confidential grief services.

Especially now, Cedar Valley Hospice is relying on our expert training and 40+ years of knowledge to continue to care for our community. We will continue to be by your side as we take this journey together. Please don't hesitate to contact us if we can be of assistance to you or your congregation.

Sincerely,

Michaela Vandersee
